the Nebraska bill for the inspection of cattle on the hoof, seemed to fill the outsiders with excitement, which communicated to the floor of the convention and a debate ensued, resulting in an adjournment to eight p. m. in order that bill No. 2 might be printed. The Texas men cialmed that the adoption of the proamble of the bill would be a fatal mistake and if this convention should announce to the world the necessity of legislating to protect home consumers against the sale of diseased mean it would result in putting American meats out of all foreign markets and be a severe blow to producers.
